

Mizu Basho

Mizubasho is a plant that is often found in wetlands in the mountains.

Because it is a cold area in Hokkaido,

It also blooms in lowlands.

(Flower language)
beautiful memory

(Flowering time)
Late May to early June

Mizubasho is strong in cold and weak in heat

The tall plant grows to 60 cm and grows upward as it grows.

Its leaves are similar to Itobasho, and because it is a waterside flower, it is named Mizubasho.

✂️ Itobasho is a plant with a plant height of 2m or more, and its fibers are taken from its leaves to make a Bashofu cloth.
