

NakaiSwamp

once upon a time Mr. Nakai lived in Toyotomi Town.

This place is Mr. Nakai's land Mr. Nakai made a park by himself for the children

There were many playground equipment in the park.

There was a small island in the center of the swamp, and a small tower was built in the center.

It was a popular park for many children.

There was no name in the park at that time.

The user asked, "What is the name of that place?" The guide used Mr. Nakai's name and taught him "Nakai-numa", which is the origin of the name.

This conversation is the origin of the name.

It used to be a small swamp

A golf course was built nearby, where a dike was built to take advantage of the swamp water.

It became the current size because the embankment was built and water was collected.
